

The Stewardworks Credo

The Full Steward's Credo

I know my worth, and know my limits too –
I speak my story; I don't speak for you.
I honor what I carry, and ask before I share –
I choose my ground with honesty and care.
I check my work before I let it stand –
I hold both truth and how it lands.
I lift each other up, and leave no one behind –
Relation is a practice, not a state of mind.
I take from this valley no more than I give –
I learn by doing, so that others learn to live.
I work with the land, not against its grain –
I steward what I'm given, again and again.

The Condensed Steward's Credo

Know your worth, and know what's not yours to tell.
Check it twice – against the source, the land, the well.
Give what you take a name, a date, a way back home.
A Steward of the Valley never works alone.
